SANCTUARY

Alden W. Kelly, February 9, 1976

Were I to pass this way again, to be
A man on earth, and sorely need a mate,
And if my choice were yet completely free,
It's you I'd have, nor passion yet abate
Despite the years, now six and thirty gone,
Our bridge, from youth and pair to being one.

So full the years, the press of early need
For labor? What then found my hands for wage?
To me you left the choice of work, the deed
To occupy my part of world's stage.
This was far best the way, you early knew,-
Fulfilled, as man, in toil I'd long pursue.

Our link with future, as with mankind past:
Embodied love, the warmth that you've expressed
Through birth of those in whom our blood shall last,
Together reared; prayed all we did was best.
And comfort found with you when lost our own,
Our babe, but worse the flow'ring adult grown.

Yes trust and love, acceptance from beyond
That strengthens union; transcends earthly need!
No base desire for we are one in bond,
And face we to our God to probe our deed.
In truth, what we believe must guide our way,
As love, which you I bear, completes my day.

Godly Birth

"THERE'S DEEPER MEANING IN THE NIGHT!"

or

"NOW LIFT YOUR EYES!"

by Alden W. Kelly

Now lift your eyes from greenery
Of shining ornamented tree;
Above the tinsel, colored light
There's deeper meaning in the night!

Think, if you will, of that first day,
The shepherds, angels come to pray,
Kings of the East from land afar
Brought gifts by light of signal star
To crib of God's most precious One,
The Baby, Saviour, His own Son.

While Mary, mother, woman blest,
With heartfelt joy held God's Bequest,
And Angel voices tidings spread
With wonderous song, relieving dread,
That all at last should know the birth
Of Saviour to men on earth.

Of Joseph, who was there to state,
The census, and through heavenly fate
Should raise Him boyhood unto man.
We wonder, did he understand?
Or could he sense the sacrifice,
Of Him God sent to bring us life?

Yes, lift your eyes from greenery
To hill beyond, and three branched tree,
The anguished suffering end in view
For Him who gave His life for you:
That last your soul may span the height.
It's His birth to recall tonight!

LIFT YOUR EYES

Lift your eyes from greenery
Of shining, ornamented tree;
Above the tinsel, colored light
There's deeper meaning in the night!

Think, if you will, of that first day,
The shepherds, angels come to pray,
Kings of Orient wandered far,
To place gifts under signal star,
At feet of God's most precious One,
The Baby, Saviour, His own Son.

While Mary, mother, woman blest,
With heartfelt joy held God's Bequest,
And Angel voices tidings spread
With wonderous song, relieving dread,
That all at last should know the birth
Of Saviour to men on earth.

Of Joseph, who was there to state,
The census, and through heavenly fate
Should raise Him boyhood unto man.
We wonder, did he understand?
Or could he sense the sacrifice,
Of Him God sent to bring us life?

Yes, lift your eyes from greenery
To hill beyond, and three branched tree,
The piercing, wretched end in view
For Him who gave His life for you:
That last your soul may climb the height.

It's His birth to recall tonight!

AS I SEE IT

Once again the blessed Christmas season has come, bringing its store of joy and happiness! There is no season quite like the Christmas season. It is a time when there is a new spirit in every heart. It is, indeed, a season of "peace and goodwill." It is a festival of friendship and love.

We have this day and this spirit only because of what Christ has meant to the world. Were it not for him how much poorer this world would be! Poor indeed are they who have "no room for Him." Rich and happy — beyond this world's computation — are they that love Him; for in Him they "possess all things."

This world, with its multiplied human tragedies, needs a Christmas with Christ exalted to his rightful place as Saviour and Lord. In the midst of world tensions and an uneasy peace, we are reminded that He is the only true source of the Christian's comfort, joy and peace.

Many years before the angel's song was heard, an ancient man of God whose name was Manoaah, upon hearing that he and his barren wife were to become parents, entreated God and prayed, "Oh, Lord, I pray thee . . . teach what we shall do unto the child that is born." Perhaps it is such a prayer that we need at Christmas time. What shall we do unto the Babe of Bethlehem — a lovely Ideal, a Teacher of impossible truths, or a Saviour who can bring peace to our hearts and to our World. — R. W. F.

"Seize The Day"

by Alden W. Kelly Aug. 11, 1943

I killed a day, and now my sorrow feel,
Attempting to recall what's gone for e'er.
Those moments past now bear a timeless seal,
The strength of which I just now came aware.

Too often, prone are we, to let time's pace
Speed on without a personal advance.-
Perhaps don't start, so don't attempt the race,
Or hit a rut and blame one else, perchance.

This I would say, since I did lose my way
In winged time, and yet do feel my loss,
Behooves it you to fully seize the day!
The minutes used are jewels, those wasted - dross!

We can stand on the rim of the mountain
Or high on the rise of the slope;
Watch the light break from dawn like the fountain;
Each morning give rise to new hope.

Big sky, - radiant glory, gives faith there.
Each sun livens beauteous earth.
The warmth, blessed light, does make us aware
Of meaning for life, - Our ~~own~~ own worth!

Thru the span of the skies He created,
The limitless scope of above
You can know that no man must be fated,
To be out the bounds of His love.

For the morning is not just for people
Who glory in breaking of days
By dawn's light, pray give thought to the steeple
And He who directs all our ways.

And the day is a matter of pairing,
Our work is more, far than for pay,
By God's grace we can serve Him by caring
Enough to ease ~~of~~ other man's way.

Sacramental moment, inspire my thoughts again
Relief from earth's intrusion; sins we have as men,
That I may soar, relate to you, and through your son
Realize the promise, eternal life He won.

The grace of His presence, personified in bread,
Redemption; saving cross, we are no longer dead.
His body sacrificed, on high for all mankind,
The path is marked, three nails; His love we all can find.

Mainstream of life, the blood - to quench all believers thirst,
That Father, through His Son, redeemed us who were cursed,
And by the word of Him, He sent to prove His love
Remember our Lord's death, till He comes from above:

Press in then, to the table, - Bread and wine today,
Reach out your hands, cleansed and pure, striving for the way
His Son ^{Pictured as} ~~reassured~~ and described in Apostle's word,
By sacrament through faith, eternal life assured!

FIFTY YEARS

The early answer to tying
A marital knot, is the need
To rid emotion of sighing,
Cast off much of urge to be freed.

The natural love of her being
So deeply attracts you for years,
Voice, acts; what her eyes are seeing,
Events color laughter and tears!

Though children come of this pairing,
Tis best not to look far ahead,
Events are more than just caring,
We so miss each child who's dead.

The need for someone beside you,
To bind wounds and help you impart
"Joy of life; and welcome the new!"
Has filled basic wants of my heart!

Truly, I'm sorry at recall,
Of people or things in the past.
My darling can scan through the wall
With memory and words that stand fast!

For sure, the trip would be irksome,
With changes in mate on the way,
A spouse who lacked where you'd come from,
Would surely not help make your day!

Grandsons who tickle your mind so,
Because of their bootstraps that worked,
Have made it right from the word, "Go,"
Self help they dismayed not nor shirked.

My daughter with classes to lead,
Not general, but rarer her chase,
Bringing closer races that need
A bridge, for religions to pace!

Son, Ted, tried also as preacher
Two decades to help those in church,
Family felt he was a teacher
We'll pray that he's near end of search!

Truly, I'd not change one happen,
Nor iterate what's gone before,
With friends I'm napp'n or rapp'n
Sure, fifty years tally the score!

"TOP O' THE HEAP"

by Alden W. Kelly , Albuquerque, N.M. 1/1/76

"There is much fault throughout the land,"
So shouts the candidate,
"Just trust yourself in my firm hand,
Please, no one trust to fate."

"My vantage in the D.C. place,
Tells me what's best for you,
And politics election race,
Proves office holder true."

"If what you claim in this you've said,
"Election is the way",-
"What of our governmental head
Nixon put in one day?"

The Demo speech was terse and bright
"He does not represent,
The nation's needs, nor wants, nor right,
Pray, let's unseat the gent!"

Yet G.O.P. was otherwise,
Claimed blessing from above,
And cited constitution ties
No race, just party love!

And what think you? Appointment filled?
Or do you favor race?
Just do not let your voice be stilled.
And please, don't close the case.

Myself, I say its happenstance,
And lightning yet select,
When drummer plays, all join the dance!
Who knows the next elect??

Shouting toward the heavens
to tell Him what He's done

Of mountains rare
and grass strewn plains
Of streams and rivers wild
Of People and the lesser beast for whom He cares the while

Let howl your Voice
Unto His ears assail Him with joy
And tell Him of the wonderous things
You've learned since but a boy

His cannon balls of thunder
Carroming off the clouds
Your feet entrenched in His good earth
Your head turned up and bowed

Let storm your soul into His heart

The grand Republic's laid to waste
Her spirit dead and gone
From out the hearts of those she loved
So well and for so long

They won't remember what they paid
they want a discount price
But!! little do they realize they pay for discount life

There is no cash for Freedom
the bill is paid in blood
With work and sweat and caring quite like the Lord above

The Safety that they whine for is nothing really safe
They'll wake up some black morning and know that they've been Raped!

With buearocratic shackles holding them to that!
They're asking WHY!? and wondering
Just where in HELL they're at

Shuttered eyes staring at the world

remembering how fiery once their pupils were distending from the iris to spew their tears

Slim legs no longer straining traces Thinking
how they pulled against the stays
Reefed and furlled pregnant with wind hurling the great body past the waves

Hove to now
top'sls quivering from the broadside
of curious lubberly eyes
Never hearing
of the larboard tack or heeling to the lee

Beached forever
in the common
Bound helpless in the sea

Braced upon a time hewn ridge
Midst lightning and the storm
Shouting toward the heavens

PEANUT BUTTER BUSTER

by
Alden W. Kelly

It was with a ~~strange~~ ^{lively} feeling of ~~elation~~ ^{Adventure} that Peanut Butter Buster took his first look at the world. Strange, he thought that of all my family I am the first one to be able to peep out of the jar in which we are confined as Peanut Butter, and know that I will soon step out on the pantry shelf, the first live Peanut Butter Boy in the whole world. As he sat there with just his eyes and strange hat showing over the edge of the Peanut Butter jar, his body was forming down below. You see, usually it takes too long for a Peanut Butter Person to form, but in this case with the lid off the jar, and the jar forgotten on the pantry shelf for a whole afternoon, Buster had the chance he needed to become alive.

Mother had opened the jar, and then instead of stirring the oil from the top into the Peanut Butter ~~immediately~~ ^{right away} had set the jar down to go and see what the mailman had left in the mailbox. Peanut Butter People are never born unless the oil isn't stirred into the Peanut Butter, because the oil becomes the blood and perspiration of Peanut Butter People. So, the conditions had been just right for Buster. ~~to live.~~

How did he get the name Buster? Why, as soon as he looked over the edge of the jar, it seemed to him as though he was Buster, and when a name just comes like that it ~~stays~~ ^{sticks}.

Buster wiggled some to get his shoulders out of the jar, wiggled some more to get a fat stomach out, and at last reached one foot gingerly down to the shelf. Then as he got both feet down together and let go of the jar he ~~promptly~~ fell down, BUMP. ~~It~~ wasn't because he couldn't walk, but because he'd been working so hard getting out of the jar that he'd been sweating, and the perspiration of Peanut Butter people is the oil from the top of the jar, and oil being slippery he'd quite naturally fallen down.

Carefully he stood up in all his Peanut Butter glory. A flat 5 cornered hat cocked over one eye, Bright brown eyes, a round nose with speckles like a peanut shell, short chubby legs and a very round stomach, his clothes a Peanut Butter colored tight fitting suit. He looked just exactly the way he had imagined he would while in the jar. Then he said, "Hello", and not quite satisfied he said, "Hello, Buster."

Hearing his own name almost made him fall down again because it seemed ~~almost~~ as though someone else was talking to him, but then he remembered that he had been talking in a chirrupy voice like a song-sparrow using words. "Why I'm not scared, that's me," he said, and then he heard mother's steps as she came towards the pantry. "Oh dear", he chirruped, "I've got to hide, and if there's one thing I hate to do it's hide, because here I've just been born and I want the world to know it."

But hide he did under a paper towel that happened to be on the shelf. Then mother hurried into the pantry saying "I've just time to make peanut butter sandwiches for the children when they get home from school", when she stopped in great surprise at seeing the peanut butter jar as empty as an egg shell that's been used.

"What could have happened to the peanut butter?" she said, "Could it have spilled? No, it's not on the floor, but what is that grease under the paper towel?" and quickly lifting the towel, she exposed Buster. He had forgotten that he was still perspiring, and had soaked the towel.

To say that mother was surprised is to not do Buster full justice, While she stood there unable to say a word, Buster stood up to his full height of ⁶~~2~~ and $\frac{1}{2}$ inches and said, "Hello mother, I'm Buster, Peanut Butter Buster. I was just born, and now I'm going to find my fortune." He then jumped nimbly down to the pantry floor, skipped past mother, ran through the kitchen and out the back door which ^{was} just ~~happened to be~~ opening.

He almost collided with Sonny and Sister who were just getting home from school, then with a chirrupy "Good-by", he ran under the fence while the startled cries of the children made him run even faster.

It happened that the path he had chosen lay between the house and the garage next door, and as he ran breathlessly around the corner of the garage, he dashed full force into Tabby, Sonny's kitten. She meowed in startled fashion, humped her back and was just in the act of jumping at Buster when she sniffed, took two hops backwards turned one somersault and began purring. How Tabby liked peanut butter! Buster knew that if he was going to make his fortune he'd better hurry before Tabby got a lick at him[#], so off he went at a great speed and disappeared before Tabby knew that he was gone.

He ran for ~~quite~~ a long time, because he was so afraid that Tabby might ~~still~~ catch him, but then he got tired and his feet started to drag, and finally he just couldn't keep going so he sat down to rest. Then ^{Jocko} a Blue Jay ~~in a tree~~ began to make fun of Buster as only a ^{Jocko} Blue Jay can. Buster couldn't understand ^{what Jocko was saying} ~~Blue Jay talk~~, but it sounded so bad that Buster began to cry. Then, as the ^{Jocko} Blue Jay continued to make fun of poor Buster, the other animals in the neighborhood came to see what was so funny. Fido, the Boston Bull came bounding and barking, but Buster was so sad that Fido sat down with him and ^{had to dry his own eyes once or twice with his stump of a tail} ~~used his stump of a tail to try to dry Buster's tears~~. Roberta, the Robbin came too, and the sight of Buster sitting there almost made Roberta cry too, so she did the next best thing and cradled Buster's head with ^{her} ~~his~~ wing. Seeing how ^{really} sad Buster ^{Jocko} was, the Blue Jay began to feel ^{Sad} ~~sorry~~, and finally ^{he} ~~she~~ flew down out of the tree and told Buster ^{he} ~~she~~ was sorry and stroked his back to make him feel better.

Of course Buster was grateful for all the sympathy he was getting, but he finally told Fido and Robert and ^{Jocko} ~~the Blue Jay~~ that what he really wanted was a ^{brother} ~~Peanut Butter Boy~~, and since he was a Peanut Butter Boy that was impossible. Then he slowly got to his feet and limped down the road out of sight.

Fido, Robert and ^{Jocko} ~~the Blue Jay~~ talked about ~~poor~~ Buster for a while, then they all went to talk to Tabby and then the four of them talked to Sonny. Sonny talked to mother and ^{mother sent} ~~then got~~ ^{Sonny to the store to buy another jar of P. B.} ~~another jar of peanut butter at the store~~. Now if Buster comes back, Sonny is going to give him a Peanut Butter brother by leaving the top off the jar and not stirring the oil, ~~but the~~ whole neighborhood has been looking for Buster for 2 weeks, ^{unless he is living with you} ~~without success, and I think he's gone forever.~~ ^{right} ~~If you see him send him home.~~

"Our Love is Young"

by Alden W. Kelly

Our love is young,- o'er stress of age that hues
And hides to other eyes the youth we were;
How young our love? - nor icy winds can lose
Tremulous lips,- the passion that you stir.

Dear heart of mine, that was and is fore'er,
Climactic need of man from birth to end,
My own, thou art the one my soul finds fair,
Our love is young, no need therein pretend.

If else it were then young to me, my heart,
I would alas, be perforce then unborn!
When love's not young, far better ban the start,
Keep young our love to greet the blessed morn.

POETRY BY ALDEN W. KELLY - 1943

"OUR DUE"

WITHIN A REALM OF TREES AND LIQUID LINES
THAT MARK THE EDGE AND SURFACE OF A LAKE,
WE MADE OUR HOME AND KNEW ALL NATURE'S SIGNS,
YET MORE THAN OUR JUST DUE WE WOULD NOT TAKE.

WAS OUR DUE JUST? THE LOVE WE BORE FOR EACH,
THE LIFE WE KNEW,- OURSELVES HAD BUILT BY HAND.
WORDLESS NATURE! WE HEARD THE WORDS SHE'D PREACH.
FOR DEVOTEES SHE HAD NO REPRIMAND.

YES, LIFE WAS GOOD, THOUGH WEALTH CAME NOT OUR WAY.
WE KNEW NO ENVY, OUR RICHES WELL WE SAW -
OUR FRIENDS, OUR GOD, OUR BABY TOO ONE DAY,
OUR PRIVATE WORLD WAS SURELY WITHOUT FLAW.

THEN,- THE DRUMMINGS OF VAST CATASTROPHE!
THE STEADY THROBBING TREAD OF MARCHING MEN.
ONCE MORE THE CALL TO ARMS TO KEEP US FREE,
AMERICA NEEDS HER SONS YET AGAIN.

AND WHAT OF US? OUR COUNTRY ASKS ITS DUE
TO OVERCOME THE ONES WHO DEMAND ALL.
THE ARMY NEEDS ITS MEN, EACH SHIP A CREW.
WE'LL ALL HELP BUILD AN AXIS WAILING WALL!

" THE PARTING"

OUTSIDE, THE CALM OF HUMID SUMMER DAY,
WITHIN, THE STRAIN OF PARTING. LOVING TWAIN;
THAT DAY HIS LAST, SHE TRYING TO BE GAY -
TO LET HIM KNOW HER LOSS WAS FREEDOM'S GAIN.

COULD SHE EXIST WITHOUT THIS MAN? HER OWN
MORE CLOSELY BOUND THEN MERELY EARTHLY TIES.-
HER LIFE WITH HIM,- BLESSINGS OF HEAVEN BLOWN
ESSENCE, OF SOMETHING FAR BEYOND THE SKIES.

HE WAS A MAN. YOU SAY HE COULD NOT FEEL
THE LOSS IN LEAVING HER WHOM HE ADORED?
MARRIAGE, HER LOVE, THEIR LIFE WHICH WAS SO REAL,
NOW PUT BEHIND HIM. DOWN TYRANNY! UP SWORD!

THEN HE WAS GONE, AND SHE FOUND QUICK RELEASE
AS EVERY WOMAN DOES AT SUCH AN HOUR.
~~THE~~ FLOOD OF TEARS BROUGHT EMOTIONAL SURGEASE, AND FROM A HIGHER STRENGTH CAME QUIET POWER.

"THERE IS BEYOND"
WE ARE NOT LUMPS OF DROSS HAVING NO SOUL,
NOR YET THE SLATE, WHICH, SELECTED FROM COAL

"THIS SINGING WORLD"
LIST TO HARMONIC VOICES
THAT SING FROM OUT THE EARTH.
THE BIRDS CALL MATES, THEIR CHOICES,
GIVE HEARTFELT SONGS OF BIRTH!

THE WINDS THAT SING AND CARRY
KIND NATURE'S PERFUME FAR,
TO LISTENING EARS SOUND MERRY,
WHILE CLOUDS SING PAST A STAR.

GREEN LEAVES DANCING IN THE BREEZE,
STEMS AND BLADES A-QUIVER,
REFLECT SINGING OF THE TREES -
ECHOED FROM THE RIVER.

NATURE SINGS A SONG OF LIFE,
AWAKE AND GAILY FAIR,
SONGS OF HAPPINESS THAT'S RIFE.
ARE YOU OF SONGS AWARE?

"WE SOAR AFAR"

WITHIN, RELEASE - NO EARTHLY BONDS OR TIES
SAVE ONLY THOSE WE WISH TO YET RETAIN.
WE LEAP TO HEIGHTS ABOVE THIS WORLD'S SKIES,
OUR WISHFUL SOUL DOTH FREEDOM SURE OBTAIN.

HOW QUICKLY THEN ONE LEAVES THE COMMONPLACE
TO JOIN THE WINDS AS THEY WHISK THROUGH THE CLOUDS.
WITHOUT THE EARTH, HOW RAPID IS THE PACE,- MOUNTAINS FAR BELOW, WRAPPED UP IN THEIR SHROUDS.

NO FEELING THERE OF FRIENDLINESS OR HURT,
ONLY THE CALM SWIFT MOVING WORLD OF SKY.
JUST OUT OF REACH THE DARK BEYOND IS GIRT
WITH STARS, WHOSE BEAUTY FOR MEN N'ER WILL DIE.

SMALL WONDER THEN, WE SEEK ~~W~~ESCAPE WITHIN!
IMAGINATION SURELY CUTS OUR CHAINS.
WE'RE SHACKLE-FREE TO DREAM WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN,-
THEN BACK TO EARTH, SUBCONSCIOUS THINKING WANES.

ATTEMPTING TO RECALL WHAT'S GONE FOR E'ER.
THOSE MOMENTS PAST NOW BEAR A TIMELESS SEAL,
THE STRENGTH OF WHICH I JUST NOW CAME AWARE.

TO OFTEN, PRONE ARE WE, TO LET TIME'S PAGE
SPEED ON WITHOUT A PERSONAL ADVANCE,-
PERHAPS DON'T START, SO DON'T ATTEMPT THE RACE,
OR HIT A RUT, AND BLAME ONE ELSE, PERCHANCE.

THIS I WOULD SAY, SINCE I DID LOSE MY WAY
IN WINGED TIME, AND YET DO REEL MY LOSS,
"BEHOOVES IT YOU TO FULLY SEIZE THE DAY!"
THE MINUTES USED ARE JEWELS, THOSE WASTED - DROSS!

"WHERE LIES THE STRENGTH?"
DO YOU STILL HOLD TO THIS AS TRUTH?
TO THINK OF SELF AND NO ONE ELSE,
UPLIFT NO MAN FOR FEAR UNCOUTH,
STAY NOT WHIP WHICH ANOTHER WELTS?

STRONG BELIEF IN SELF-SUFFICIENCY,
HELP NOT, THOUGH CALLED UPON FOR AID,-
LIKE "NEW ORDER" EFFICIENCY,
DESIRE THE WORKERS POORLY PAID?

SUPPRESSING, GRINDING INTO DIRT
THOSE WHO LUCKLESS HAP' TO BE,
CONSIDER NOT THE FEELINGS HURT
IF YOU SMEAR THOSE WHO DON'T AGREE?

OR OTHERWISE IN DAILY LIFE,
EXPECT THE OTHERS DOWN TO BOW?
THIS, THEN YOUR FATE - A CONSTANT STRIFE,
AND DEATH WILL SNEER AT UGLY BROW!

"TO WISCONSIN - A TOAST"

OH, MOTHER STATE, THOU SEEM'ST TENDER TO ME,
HOWEVER MUCH THE STRANGER'S TALES DECRY
THY HEAT AND COLD, AND BEAUTIES DO NOT SEE.-
THEY OPE NOT EYES TO CHARMS THY LOOKS IMPLY.

THY HILLS AND HEIGHTS, FROM WHICH ONE SEES AFAR
O'ER THY LAKES AND TREES, BAYS AND LONG HEADLANDS, PERCHANCE TO NAKED ROCK THAT LEAVES A SCAR,-
A BLUFF, UNSCULPTORED SAVE BY SACRED HANDS.

LUSH FORESTS WITH THE CONTRAST OF WHITE BIRCH
AND GREEN LEAVES, # FLAUNTING BLADES UPON THE AIR.
THERE, SPREADING FARMS, WITH HERE A CROSS-ROADS CHURCH, THOU, STATE OF MINE, WITH NATURAL BEAUTY RARE.

ONCE MORE THE THOUGHTS OF MEADOWS, STREAMS, AND PINES
STRAIGHT GROWING, AGELESS AS OUTCROPPING STONE,
ALL THESE CONTRIBUTE TO THY BEAUTEBOUS LINES,
OH, MOTHER STATE, THESE MAKE YOU STAND ALONE!

"THE FREE SPIRIT"
OR
"HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH AGING RAPIDLY"

A FLOOD OF JOY, SO EASILY PERCEIVED
IN EVERY MOTION, WORD AND HAPPY GLANCE.

HER THRILL OF LIFE SCARCELY CAN BE BELIEVED,
SO FULLY THINGS AND MOMENTS HELP ENHANCE EXISTANCE HERE.

SHE DOESN'T FEEL DECEIVED,- SHE BARKS AT DOGS AND PULLS UP MOTHER'S PLANTS.

THEN, TOO, SOMETIMES SHE HAS TO BE RELIEVED
OF KNIVES OR FORKS, YET TAKES AN ADULT'S GRANTS
GRATEFULLY, WITHOUT BEING TOO AGRIEVED
APPARENTLY.

SHE TAKES AN AWKWARD STANCE
STILL, WHILE WALKING,- A WORSE CANT BE CONCEIVED;
YET IT'S EFFECTIVE, MAKES HER DADDY PRANCE ##
AT PLAYTIME.

THEN EATS.

FINALLY SHE'S HEAVED
INTO BED, AND PARENTS ESCAPE THEIR TRANCE
UNTIL NEXT MORNING!

"SO LET ME BUILD!"

THE URGE TO BUILD INHERENT IS IN MEN,
A WISH TO FORM FROM OLD A SOMETHING NEW;
TO RECONSTRUCT THE SHAPE OF WHAT HAS BEEN,
OR ELSE WITH WORDS A NEWER TRUTH IMBUE.

YET TIME IS LIVED BY PEOPLE NOT AWARE
THEY DAILY BUILD AN EDIFICE ERECT,
THAT WEATHERS STORMS IF ONLY FORMED WITH CARE
OF FLAWLESS THINGS, WHICH TRULY ARE SELECT.

FOUNDATION THEN, WHICH BEST OF ALL IS STONE:-
THE SOLID TRUTH, A MAN TO HONOR BOUND,
RESPONSIBLE, A MAN TO TRUST ALONE,
GOD-FEARING, WITH A MORAL TONE THAT'S SOUND.

PERMIT THE LIGHT TO ENTER EVERY NOOK
BY WINDOWS CLEAR AND WIDE, WHICH GIVE A VIEW
UNCLOUDED BY BIAS AND DARK OUTLOOK.
LET NOT A SHADE BE-DIM BRIGHT INWARD HUE.

A DOOR THAT'S STOUT, YET WITHAL FREELY SWINGS,
A GUARD FROM THIEVES OF SENSE,- PROTECTIVE, STRONG;
WHICH EASES WAY FOR HE WHO KNOWLEDGE BRINGS,
AND CLOISTERS NOT WITHIN A LIVING SONG.

O'ER ALL A ROOF SECURE, WITHSTANDING WRATH
AND ELEMENTS, AFFECTED NOT BY FATE
WHICH WEAKENS THOSE WHO CHOOSE A LESSER PATH.
THUS, SIMPLY BUILT, ARE LIVES CONSIDERED GREAT!

"MAKE TRUE THE COURSE"

THE COURSE WAS SET ONE DAY WHEN ALL WAS CALM,
NO WAVES TOO HIGH NOR SUN THAT BURNED TOO DEEP.
ON MINOR HURTS WE USED CURATIVE BALM;
THOUGH EASY TROD, WE THOUGHT THE HILLS TOO STEEP.

THAT DAY THE ROAD AND GOAL, HOW SIMPLY SEEN:
TO SCHOOL TO HIGHER ARTS, THEN WED, AND WORK
THE SPAN WE MAY:- SO EXIT FROM THE SCENE,
REPLACED BY OTHERS COME FROM OUT THE MURK.

HOW NOW WE BLINDLY HUNT THE WAY WE KNEW,
OUR VISION SHORT, SCARRED HANDS, A BLEEDING HEART
STILL HOPE EXPRESS, THOUGH NEVER AID IN VIEW.
SO, GRIMLY HOLD, NOR HIGHER AIM DEPART.

SOME DAY AT LAST, ^A SECURE PEACE SHALL RAISE
HER ^A TENDER HAND, CLEAR SIGHT AND HEAL THOSE SORES.
THAT HEART WHICH LOST, TIME BRINGS FROM OUT THE HAZE, AND FERVENT PRAYERS GIVE THANKS FOR END OF WARS.

"NO. MAN GIVES GREATER"

ALONE, NO ONE ELSE BUT I
TO OVERSEE BLEAK, TORN EARTH.
BALD, COLD FACED MOON STANDING BY COUNTING WAR'S DESOLATE WORTH.

EXTREME THE PRICE! YOU MAY SEE
AT BASE OF HILL THOSE WHITE BOARDS
PLAIN, O'ER MEN INCLUDING ME
WHO HARMONIZED FREEDOM'S CHORDS.

YET, HERE I REMAIN ALONE
TO THINK, - SEEK TO UNDERSTAND:
STILL WITHIN HAS NO LIGHT SHONE,
GESTURES NO REVEALING HAND.

IT MAY MEAN, PERHAPS NO REST
FOR ME WHO GAVE ALL I COULD.
THOSE OTHERS, TOO, - WHAT CRUEL JEST
WAS FLUNG NEATH OMINOUS HOOD?

PAY TO DANCE, WHY PAY WE SELF,
THE COST THEN TO US SO HIGH,
IS THERE NOT A MEANER PELF
MAYHAP LIBERTY WILL BUY?

HISTORY'S TONGUE GIVES ANSWER, "NO!"
THROUGH AGES OF TYRANTS LAWS,
GREATEST GAVE ALL TO O'ER THROW; -
WE TOO HELPED THE PEOPLE'S CAUSE!

"IN HOPE IS STRENGTH"

~~"LOOK THOU AHEAD"~~

A. W. KELLY - FEB. 22, 1944

THOU STRENGTH OF HOPE, THAT FILLS
THE FUTURE'S RADIANT GLOW,
OUR HELP ON PRESENT HILLS,
WHO SMOOTHS THE RAPIDS FLOW:

AID EARTHLY TO ASPIRE
WITH MINDS UNFETTERED, CALM,
YET GLOWING INNER FIRE
TO EARN THE VICTOR'S PALM.

FOR THOSE WHO SUFFER, - GIVE
THY STRONG SUPPORT AND CHEER:
BESTOW THY WILL TO LIVE,
PROTECT FROM UNKNOWN FEAR.

EXALT THE CHILDREN'S SIGHT
TO VERIFY THE TRUTH,
THAT OUTLOOK MUST BE BRIGHT,
OUR LIVING NOT UNCOUTH.

THESE STRENGTHS I ASK FOR MEN,
WHENE'ER THE NEED ARISE
FOR BIRTH OF HOPE AGAIN,
WITHIN A SOUL THAT DIES!

"New Mexico".
by A. W. Kelly

July 1945

Thou, rugged land of vision carried far,
Begat by nature, lying close to death
In bearing such a one. Yet, shine thy star,
For truly finding thee I scarce have breath!

Thy ageless sands display a master's care,
Warm yellow, fearless red, and brilliant white,
So vividly disclosed for men to share
In light of day; a glorious, blinding sight!

Yet, soft thy nights, outpouring gorgeous blue,
To bless and cherish those within thy arms;
Those diamond lamps, set far in heavenly hue,
And moonlight sheen to more enhance thy charms.

How rugged! Yes, with thy arroyos deep,
In slashing, painful scars across thy breast;
And there sharp rising heights where mesas keep Eternal watch of mountains crowning crest.

Keep silent ^{guard} ~~watch~~ as I, poor mortal thing,
Grope cautiously in hope within thy realm;
Imbue thy strength and steadfastness to bring
This human ship to port with true-steered helm!

' ARROYO '

by A. W. Kelly

July 1945

I slash the earth
with steep sharp banks, boldly cutting where I please.

I grow larger ~~####~~ with each season
gouging weak earth as I go.

You can't pen me!
I seize the pen
and swallow to earthen guts.

Yes, land I mark and scar. I know my power; lay not hand on me!

Man, rrail man, stay;
Come not to me.
I am earthy, ages old.

I, arroyo, remain long here
after race of man has gone!

Halt my progress?
Arrest me now?
I'm Arroyo! Eternal!

'Mesa'

by A. W. Kelly.

July 1945

Look you, mortal passing by,
Gaze your fill upon my steeps,
Pointed straightly to the sky.
Think you we're but earthen heaps?

Cast your ogling eyes around,
At my flattened top, my base
Wide spreading, as I look down
To consider human race.

Short lived man, were you on earth
When the water flooded here?
Since that time we've seen your birth,
Saw you hairy, dumb and queer!

We have seen you kind demand
a life from the unkind range,
Saw you grovel in the sand,
Build your cities, make a change.

Coronado's spanish file
Searching treasures, silver, gold,
Wandered through our land awhile
As he sought in venture bold.

Desperados, men of steel;
There were cattle barons too,
All these saw me, Mesa; real;
I their deaths and passing knew!

Look on me, then wend your way,
Through your little work and space,
While I here quiescent lay,
With the eons keeping pace.

"In Future, Hope!"

AWK.

Still broad horizons loom which menace not,
Nor poor appear from our sequestered spot.

Rise to the hope of challenge yet away,
In timorous heart bid courage welcome, stay!

Hold proud thy head; to stronger future cast
A tie, a prayer, nor linger in the past.

Let thy memory recall but pleasantness,-
Blight not what comes, but softly lend carress;

That thou and I though future seem unclear,
May pass therein; have each,- and so no fear!

Dark Night of Fear
AWK.

Dark night, who finds the orphan cold,
Nor restful place therein for him,
Abate the ills, in comfort fold
The mortal's wish though lighted dim,
That he may savor good.

What then dark night, great fearful beast,
Who lags to leap in peril strange;
Allay such fears, provide the least
Harshness for them, let terrors change,
To bring the calm you could.

So night of ill and dark despite
Provide an ebon haven, turn
To bring at end of day respite;
The relaxation that men earn
Is theirs, dispel it not.

This night let fall protective hope
Which succors all and rests the heart,
So men refreshed may next day cope
With world's affairs, nor lose their part.
Give faith,- improve their lot!

"Our love is young".
AWK.

Our love is young, - o'er stress of age that hues
And hides to other eyes the youth we were:
How young our love? - nor icy winds can lose
Tremulous lips, - the passion that you stir.

Dear heart of mine, that was and is fore'er;
Climactic need of man from birth to end,
My own, thou art the one my soul finds fair,
Our love is young, no need therein pretend.

If else it were then young to me, my heart,
I would alas, be perforce then unborn,
When love's not young, far better ban the start;
Keep our love young to greet the blessed morn!

Section 1.)-Page 1.) Anticipation;

AWK., Nov. 26, 1945

Let fate not interrupt the one we are,
Who seeks the light of day within thy womb,
For in that yet unborn we ~~grasp a star~~, - stand afar, -
In ages hence lie deathless in the tomb!

That we by love may thus be interspersed
Through eons yet to come, nor earth forego, -
Again to live! - the deathly ties dispersed;
To die, how then? our blood in this we sow.

Yet guard thou well, that we lose not our key
Of way to future, linked through us to past,
That from thyself ere long there issues free
A being wholly us, whom we have cast!

Dream too thy hopes, in silence if desire,
Or give thy wish a voice that I may feel
Thy conscious longing and the mental fire,
What fears bespeak? - or venture the ideal.

To trust, to believe, and fright at naught to come,
Whate'er appears in thoughtful imagery;
Face truth not phantoms dark, take comfort from Thy place, to stand as rugged base of tree!
