Will the family of Darrel please stand? Who here has raised Darrel, nurtured him in his becoming, knows him like only family can, and celebrates his joining with Katherine making a new family of his own?

Welcome family, welcome friends, welcome those who are with us in spirit to this time of celebrating Katherine & Darrel. We come out of such love for them, and to share with them in their abundance of love & joy. We each bring our own memories & stories of them, remembering in this time the journeys they've been on, the excitement we shared with them when they met & came together, and the support we have for their commitment to choose one another again & again. When things are grim & we face real loss & hardship, these two have chosen to savor many blessings & lean in to sharing them - with each other & with us. Thanks be for these two beloveds, and for their love. May this be a time of joyful togetherness, where we might all ^{experience} soak in abundance. And may you two beloveds feel your cups overflowing with infinite "yes!" from all of us. & especially from each other.

Breathwork by Andrea

"Osso Bucco" intro

We take a moment to soak in the reality of life, in our presence in this moment, in love we might celebrate.

Katherine paused in a feeling like this when she first heard the next poem on the radio while she was in college. She heard poet laureate Billy Collins reading, and knew the feelings: the feeling of contentment in the body, the goodness which is so real & so delicious & so visceral. Sorrow is real too, we know. And sometimes it overwhelms us. He writes though too of the goodness. Sometimes it overwhelms us.

The poem has grown with the two of them, as they've found companionship which is secure & content, where each companion gives generously in ways that bring them both joy. From time spent picking & preparing delicious meals & exhilarating wine-pairings, to time spent independently, with an invisible string which stretches & then brings back together. There are such blessings, especially when one accepts where they are, ~~acknowledges~~ ^{includes} struggle & pain, and savors the good. There is an inevitability as life's cycles pull us ever on, and we pause & know all the moments strung along are connected, in the marrow of life.

"I like your face" intro

Katherine & Darrel met in October 2021, both open & hopeful for a ^(thank you Bumble!) ~~relationship~~ ^{partner} to share in their true joys, and create more. Both were rather independent, and unwilling to spend time & energy on something that wouldn't be real & supportive & committed. They both had hard-earned resilience & boundaries & sense of themselves.

They talk about their early dating & relationship a bit differently, ^{of course} ~~as two different~~ ^{people do}. As people who love art in writing acting music, they've chosen these two readings to describe it. It surely contained all of the stuff of life in these next two readings, in that rush of possibility & wonder, in the surprising ease & familiarity they felt, and in a sense of ~~spiritual connection~~.

connectiveness they couldn't explain!

From the brilliance they find in Bojack Horseman to the mystical writing of Phillip Pullman... you can guess which person chose which (haha)

"I will love you forever... until I die"

Transition into vows - message to the couple

You were open, ready, & willing (to work through misunderstandings & learn to give generously in ways that touch one another deeply. You were realistic, you didn't have to have a partner for some vain or insecure reason. Goodness knows the world gives us so many reasons to date that are all about scarcity & proving oneself, telling us to marry for profit or sexiness or image, and trying to trap us in things that do not count as real connection. But your openness allowed you to find in one another more than you could have imagined, and you leaned in. Like two strings resonated by the same chord. Like two animated by the same energies, the spirits of ones you've known, who are part of you. You remember whose you have been by whose you are now, and the two of you animate each other once more.

Your thoughtfulness and sharing. Your animation at giving & receiving, at being part of the same energy of hope & abundance found in the ordinary & in the midst of pain & struggle.

These are the gifts that have brought you here & will carry you forward, around life's circle, thanks be. Thanks be that you two surrender to being animated by them, and accept what is required to share them, nurturing your love & affection with time & attention, generosity, grace, humility. May you always turn back toward one another, remembering to lean in to the chord which brought you together, and will continue to do so. May you always allow your hearts to break open for one another, with compassion & grace. May you choose delight & savor the goodness in small moments of connection & big ones too. May you ask for help & be honest with each other & with this community who longs to support you & your relationship. May you be blessed with health & wellness, may you continue to find peace and joy in the abundance which surrounds you.

And as you take these vows, may you feel the chord of life which resonates you both.

Affirmation

Family and friends, will you do all in your power to support this marriage now and in the years ahead?

You may respond by saying: We will!

First Act

Darrel & Katherine are now invited to their first act as a wedded couple...
Benjamin Franklin in 1779, writing to his French friend. In a scientific commentary about how water is changed into wine, Franklin remarked, "We hear of the conversion of water into wine at the marriage in Cana as of a miracle. But this conversion is, through the goodness of God, made every day before our eyes. Behold the rain which descends from heaven upon our vineyards; there it enters the roots of the vines, to be changed into wine; a constant proof that God loves us, and loves to see us happy. The miracle in question was only performed to hasten the operation, under circumstances of present necessity, which required it.

Blessing/Benediction

Note it's not actually apache? The poem was originally written in 1947 by the non-Native author Elliott Arnold in his Western novel Blood Brother
